ABSTRACT

A 1981-82 bibliography of available literature on migrants and migrant education, from the Rutgers Intercultural Relations and Ethnic Studies Institute, primarily lists publications which appeared between 1970 and 1980. The 379 entries are divided into 15 sections: bibliography (7); children (24); economics (7); education (100); family (9); health (22); housing (12); labor (29); law (12); life (39); Mexican Americans (12); mobility (25); programs (national--7, regional--4); state programs (Arizona--1, California--9, Colorado--2, Florida--3, Idaho--1, Illinois--1, Indiana--1, Massachusetts--1, Michigan--4, Mississippi--1, Montana--1, New Jersey--12, New York--2, North Carolina--1, Ohio--1, Oregon--4, Pennsylvania--1, South Carolina--1, Texas--11, Virginia--1, Washington--2, Wisconsin--2); and Puerto Rico (7). The education section is subdivided into curriculum (7) general (58), materials (12), Migrant Student Record Transfer System (6), and teacher training (17). Appendices list 20 federal agencies, 11 additional information sources, 2 funding agencies, and 46 state educational agencies; provide a map of migrant streams; and list states in each of the 3 streams, with homebase states indicated. FOREWORD

In surveying the available literature on migrant education, one finds that the years 1970-1980 were most productive. The materials included in this bibliography consist primarily of those publications which appeared during this decade; a number of studies dated prior to 1970 are also cited to provide a historical perspective on the subject.

The range of references encompassed by this document is extensive but by no means, all-inclusive: from the vast number of works reviewed by the IRES staff, the compiler selected only those which were, in turn, organized into specific categories which are listed alphabetically in the Table of Contents.

For the readers' convenience, an Appendix is provided at the end of the bibliography, in which the following data are summarized: federal agencies, information sources, migrant streams, funding agencies, state educational agencies and other sources of information on migrant education.
